

How To Install Gladon Splasher Kit

Gladon Pool Cove is designed to be installed in minutes. To save time, read all directions completely before starting your cove installation.

Materials Required: Fine tooth saw (hack saw), utility knife, Sure Seam™ tape and tin snips (optional).

Step 1: Cut the roll of HappyBottom® Pool Pad into pieces 2' longer than diameter of the the pool.

Step 2: Position the Pool Pad pieces next to each other, as shown in figure 1.

Step 3: Using Sure Seam™ tape, tape the seams together keeping the foam pieces tightly against each other. Apply the tape to one side only. DO NOT overlap the foam sheets. (See figure 2)

Step 4: After you have taped the sheets of foam together, flip the sheets over so the tape is on the bottom.

Step 5: Center the taped together sheets of foam on the ground in the area where you will erect your pool.

Step 6: Begin assembling your pool on top of the foam sheets. Follow all of your pool manufacturer's instructions that precede cove installation.

Step 7: Make sure you have a 4 inch wide firm, level surface around the entire inside of the pool wall (See Figure 3).

Step 8: Center the first piece of pool cove over the wall joint. Press the cove firmly against the pool base. Make sure the black plastic backing strip goes between the inner wall and the bottom rail.

Step 9: Continue around the pool wall installing successive pieces of cove. Make sure that there no gaps or cracks left between sections. Do not install the last piece of cove.

Step 10: Before installing the final piece of cove, check to see that all pieces fit tightly against each other, resting firmly on the ground with the plastic strip locked into the bottom rail.

Step 11: Cut the last piece of cove about 1-1/2 inches longer than the remaining space. Use a fine tooth saw and keep the cut as square as possible.

Step 12: Insert the final piece of cove into the pool bottom rail. The tight fit will compensate for wall stretch that occurs when your pool is filled with water.

Step 13: Continue, following your pool manufacture's instructions.
